About the Conference

Society for Nursing Practices (SFNP) and BioLeagues Worldwide organizes the "Asia Pacific Conference on Nursing Science and Healthcare" on 1st & 2nd December 2021, in Dubai. This conference is a multidisciplinary program with broad participation with members from around the globe focused on learning about various facets of nursing and healthcare research. We invite all the Speakers and Delegates from worldwide to attend this conference.

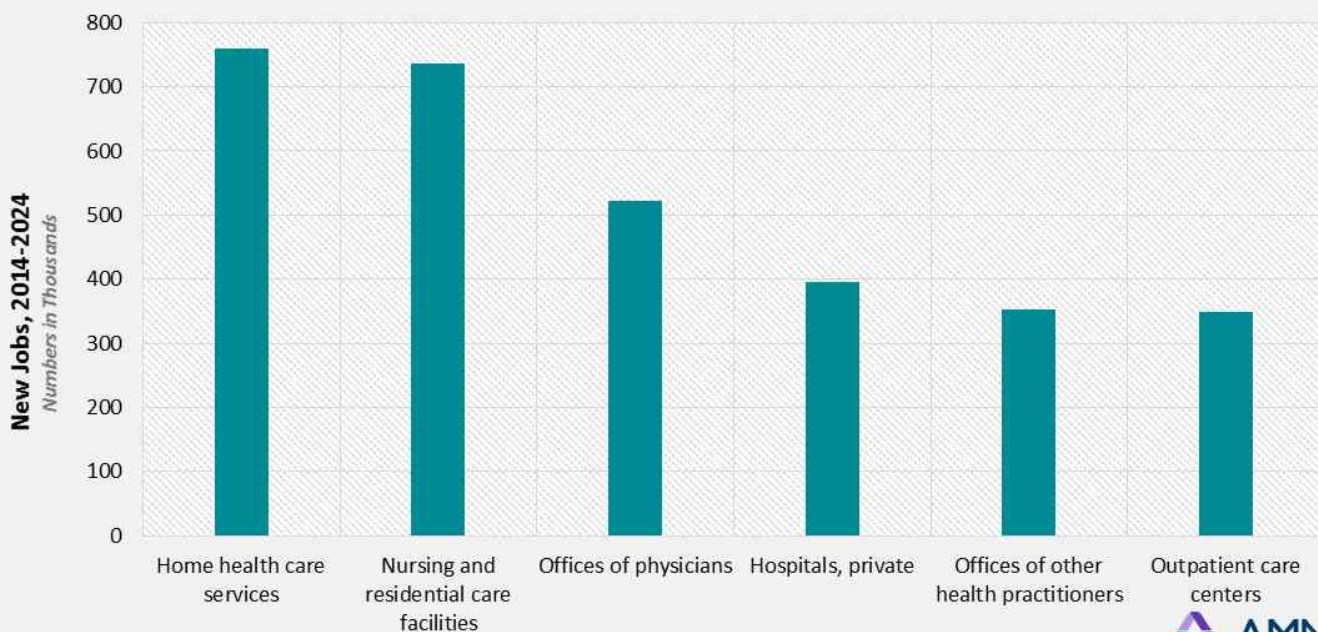

It creates a perfect podium for global networking as it brings together renowned speakers and scientists across the globe to the most exciting and memorable scientific event filled with informative and interactive sessions, international workshops, world-class international exhibitions, and poster presentations.

Future of Nursing Industry

Nursing has long ranked among one of the fastest-growing industries across the globe, employing millions. Nurses are the keystone of the healthcare industry. The nursing industry is changing at a rapid rate. With shifting technology, an aging patient population and new challenges brought on by federal legislation, the nursing industry is being forced to evolve to ensure that hospitals and other organizations are able to continue to provide the best possible care.
